REMINISCENCES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

During the latter part of June 1871, Father Dempsey, who for a long time had been the Priest in charge of this parish conceived the idea of building a new church for the town of Menlo Park, and had managed to secure four acres of ground as a site for the new edifice. There were even at that time a considerable number of wealthy people of the Catholic faith residing at Menlo Park, and with the necessary ground already assured Father Dempsey set about securing the needed funds for the building by subscription, meeting with encouraging success from the start.

With the opening of the month of July the various fraternal organizations of the county installed their new officers for the terms of the last half of the year. The first of these to seat new officers was Maricopa Tribe, Improved Order of Redmen, of San Mateo, in which the new Chiefs raised up were as follows: George W. Green, sachem; E. Waller, senior sagamore; L. Jaszynsky, junior sagamore; George Baker, chief of records; C. Kerlock, keeper of wampum.

Next to install its officers was Bay View Lodge No. 109, I. O. O. F., of this city, the ceremonies being conducted by District Deputy Grand Master H. A. Scofield as follows: J. C. Edgar, noble grand; C. E. Benjamin, vice grand; H. N. Nutting, recording secretary; B. A. Rankin, permanent secretary; T. W. Lathrop, treasurer; A. Teague, warden; B. F. Cooper, conductor.

The new officers of Metamora Tribe, I. O. R. M., of this town, were as follows: Jerome W. Turner, sachem; A. Dennis, senior sagamore; H. B. Thompson, junior sagamore; J. A. Doutrick, chief of records; A. Underhill, keeper of wampum.

People of Redwood City celebrated the Fourth of July of 1871 with rather more enthusiasm than had been displayed in this section at any time since the close of the Civil War, attracting to the town a large number of the residents of other portions of the county. As usual the chief feature of the day was a parade, headed by the ever faithful fire company which turned out with their engine gaily decorated in honor of the occasion. Members of Metamora Tribe of Red Men also joined in the procession in goodly numbers, leading a handsomely decorated wagon containing 37 young ladies representing the then 37 States of the Union. After the parade, which was held in the morning, the people gathered at the picnic grounds near town, where the literary exercises were held, and followed the program with the usual picnic lunches. In the early portion of the evening a feature new to this section was added in the nature of a parade of the "horribles," who styled themselves the Redwood City Beauties.

This in fact constituted one of the chief attractions of the day, closing with a burlesque oration. In the evening there was a display of fireworks and a dance held at the gymnasium, then the largest hall in the town. The only notable disturbance of the day occurred in the evening just after the close of the parade of the horribles, when two men who had filled up with "red liker" started a fight and could not be induced to desist until they had given themselves an involuntary salt bath. The fight started near Crowley's saloon on Main street, where the angry participants were separated before much damage had been done by a few of the bystanders. The pair were not satisfied with this ending of their differences, however, and after wandering down the street for a short distance and exchanging wordy compliments again clinched and surged back and forth until they had reached the center of the bridge. Here they had it tooth and nail for a few moments until they forced themselves against the railing of the bridge. This had not been constructed with a view to serving as an enclosure for a prize ring and declining to act in that capacity gave way, letting the two topple over into the creek. As it was high tide at the time the belligerents found sufficient to occupy their mind in endeavoring to keep their heads above water until they were rescued by the spectators. They were finally fished out, one being towed to each side of the creek. Evidently the salt water had cooled their ardor, as after glaring silently at each other for a few moments all the fight had oozed out and they quietly walked off in different directions.

CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

Investors Offer Good Prices for
New Issue of Redwood
City Securities.

All of the Trustees were present at the meeting of the Council Monday evening, which was attended by representatives of several financial institutions anxious to become the owners of the new issue of Redwood City municipal bonds.

The first business disposed of was the opening of the bids which each offered, besides accrued interest to date of delivery, premiums as follows: American Savings Bank of Los Angeles, $1,557; James H. Adams & Co., $2,610; E. H. Rollins & Sons, $2,195; G. G. Blymer & Co., $700; William R. Staats & Co., of Los Angeles, $2,889. The bid of Staats & Co. being evidently the best was accepted.

J. F. Kerr presented another proposed site for the new City Hall, offering to sell his lot on Webster street facing the Courthouse, at the rate of $75 a front foot. Mrs. R. A. S. Pescia also submitted a proposal, offering to sell the block bounded by Stambaugh, Walnut, Maple, and Hilton streets, for $4,000.

An communication was presented by the promotion committee of the Fourth of July Committee asking the assistance of the Council in its publicity work and was filed with the understanding that action will be taken later to invite the governing bodies of other municipalities.

An application from the Pacific States Telephone Co. for permission to erect a considerable number of additional poles and to lay underground conduits at several street intersections was referred to the committee on public utilities to consult with Lohman & Co., the city's electrical engineers.

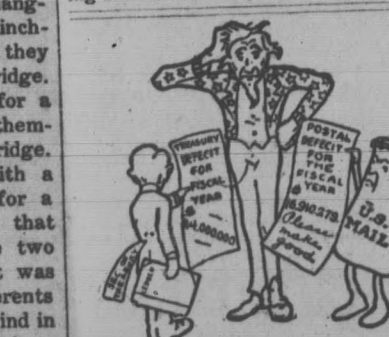

Street Superintendent Dickey was authorized to purchase two car loads of rock to be used for repairs on the County Road and Cooper street.

The contracts and bonds of Hess, McGarvey & Kreiss and T. C. Rice for the Dingee Park street work were approved. The bondsmen for Hess, McGarvey & Kreiss are P. P. Chamberlain, James Crowe and H. C. Tuchen, while the sponsors for Rice are P. P. Chamberlain and Mrs. Mary A. Rice.

After some discussion it was decided to abandon the plan of attempting to secure an expression of the voters at the city election as to preference in the location of the City Hall. This decision was prompted by the conclusion that the project as intended would interfere with the work of the election officers, and the additional fact that the impossibility of securing complete information as to available sites would make an intelligent expression impossible at this time. It is the intention to submit the question later in some other form. In reply to a question, City Attorney Mansfield informed the Council that no part of the money derived from the bond issue can be used for the purchase of a site.

A somewhat extended discussion of proposed improvements by the Railroad Company on their right of way brought forth several pertinent suggestions. Important among these was one by Trustee Hynding that the Company should construct without delay a concrete walk from Mound street to the depot. The present bad condition of these walks he believed had been the cause of two fatal accidents within the past year. Chairman Merrill suggested that the ordinance limiting the speed of tains discussed some months ago should be passed with further delay.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

Every Citizen Has a Duty.

Every citizen of Redwood City should take time Monday to express by their ballots their choice of the men who are to assist in the conduct of the city government. While in some few cases this may cause slight inconvenience, it is a duty no one has a right to neglect. The fact that in this campaign there are no special issues at stake—that in reality it is a contest between men—can afford no excuse for neglect of this duty upon the part of the voter.

This is a time in the affairs of the city when an enterprising and broad business administration is needed. In the interest of the general welfare this should induce some of our best men to seek positions on the board of Trustees, and fortunately this is the case.

The candidates for Trustees on the Good Government League ticket are apparently both good men. Edward H. Sampson has long been a resident of this city and has always taken an active interest in what ever has been for the advancement of the town. Though Mr. Byrd is a comparative stranger, having resided here but a comparatively short time, he is said to be a good business man.

Opposed to these, as independent candidates, are two men possessing equally acceptable qualifications. C. J. Hynding has had many years experience as a member of the Council, and as a Trustee is thoroughly familiar with the requirements of the city. His experience with street work would make him a valuable man at this time. Mr. Cumberston has long exhibited an active interest in city affairs and by his almost constant attendance at meetings of the Council should be familiar with its affairs.

Nothing can be said against either of the candidates for Marshal. Both are good men. During his term as night watchman Mr. Coleman has made an excellent officer. While his opponent, Charlie Jacobus, has never held public office, during his long residence in this city he has sustained an exceptional reputation. Accustomed to dealing with the public, he should be well prepared for the complex duties of the office of Marshal and Collector.

The fact that neither Clerk Plump or Treasurer Towne have opposition is a certain indication that their duties have been fulfilled to the general satisfaction of the public.

Moss Beach Notes.

Things are beginning to look like "something doing" in the building line here. The prospects are that within the next month there will be at least a dozen new houses started, some of which will be quite pretentious in appearance. A big dance will be given Saturday evening at Morse Hall. Vallejo's orchestra will furnish the music. A son was born March 19th to Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dugdale. Mr. Stockman, our local builder, is preparing to build a concrete residence for himself.

Notice of Estrayed Stock.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Andrew S. Barron, did on the 30th day of March, 1910, take up and confine on his premises called the "Owl Dairy" situated at Beresford in Second Township, County of San Mateo, State of California, four calves, which were running at large in the public highway in front of his said premises. Said calves are more particularly described as follows, to wit: One of said calves is about 10 months old, of graded stock (Holstein and Durham); color, red and white; ear mark, crop off right ear; no brand; probable value, $9.00. Three of said calves are each about 10 months old, of graded stock, (Holstein and Durham); color, black and white; ear marks, crop off right ear; no brand; probable value of each $9.00.

That said animals are still confined on the said premises. That the name of the owner of said animals is unknown to the undersigned. Dated: April 1st, A. D. 1910.
